Dr. Alfred Walton, of No. 509 Fifth evenue, was the prosecutor in the Jefferson Market Police Court this morning of a mild-mannered elderly man with carefully brushed white beard keen eyes and an appearance that elicited sympathy. The elderly man said he was George H. Gilmore, sixtyseven years; that his home was in Massachusetts and that he had been stopping at the Mills Hotel until he found he was no longer able to pay his

"While returning from a patient's home one night three weeks ago," said Dr. Walton, "I was accosted by this man, who told me that he had been robbed of his purse; that he was without friends or acquaintances in this city, and that he wished to get back to his home in Massachusetts or at least to have his hunger relieved. "His age and the apparent frankness of his story reached me and I took him to a restaurant in Sixth avenue and paid for his meal and then gave him a bill which I calculated was large enough to tide him over for a day or two, or until he could hear from his folks.

"The next day the restaurant keeper told me I had been imposed upon, that several of his customers who had seen me take him into the place had had similar experiences with him. I passed the thing from my mind until last night, when I saw him on Forty-second street. I watched him for a while and, sure enough, he approached a man, talked with him a moment and the man gave him a quarter. I asked the man who had given him the money what story he had told, and it was the old one about losing his purse and wanting to get to his home in Massachusetts. So called a policeman and had the beggar locked up."

Mount Vernon Tourney.

Mount Vernon is all stirred up over an opening ping-pong tournament that is to be given there next Monday in Trinity Parish House by the Junior Chapter of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew. Three tables are to be used, and a large number of contestants are expected. The winners of the tournament will get silver medals establishing the championship of the vicinity, and the rivalry for the honor is keen among the young men of the district.

Among those entered is Mr. Rhoades, of Colgate College, the champion of his school; Mr. Wolff, who is esteemed the best of the Siwanoy Country Club's players; the Cummings brothers, from East New York: Mr. Crpenter, of Mount Vernon, and two New Yorkers, Richardson and Lestier. The contest seems to be open to all.
